ADVANCED DESIGN CONFERENCE / ITALY

The Advanced Design Conference (ADC) invites scholarly contributions that advance design, architecture, engineering and business knowledge through rigorous theoretical frameworks, empirical investigations, and critical analyses of contemporary practice. As an international forum bridging academic scholarship, professional expertise, and policy development, ADC welcomes submissions that contribute rigorous insights and innovative perspectives with clear relevance to contemporary practices in design, architecture, engineering and business.

The Advanced Design Conference distinguishes itself through a comprehensive approach to research dissemination, including open-access publication, persistent digital identifiers (ACDROI), and systematic promotion of accepted works to enhance scholarly impact and citation metrics.
